—The President has designated Thursday November 27th, as Thanksgiving Day.

—If the Democrats really want a "double" State to cling to, there's Indiana. The Republicans don't need it.

—Mr. Butler's term of service as treasurer of the State of Pennsylvania will begin on the 1st day of May, 1880.

—A careful political economist closely calculates that the women in this country might annually save $14,000,000 in ribbons which the men might spend for cigars.

—If the Adventists have calculated correctly, the Republicans will not enjoy to any great extent the fruits of their recent victory in Bucks county and elsewhere.

—The great conundrum which is agitating the Democratic party is: Is Tilden dead or alive? He is alive and kicking brethren, and you won't be allowed to forget it.

—The latest and most remarkable suggestion for the Democratic nomination for President is the suggestion of Ex-Congressman Scott Laid, of New York, who favors starting a boom for Gen. Don Carlos Buell, of Kentucky.

—The condition of affairs in Ireland is deplorable indeed. Added to the terrors of famine and general destitution, the tenants who, though both ignorant and poor, are still willing to pay their rents are threatened with punishment by bands of agrarians who ride in the night and keep up a sort of Ku-Klux organization. The immediate result of this will be an outbreak, and then the poor tenants will be the chief sufferers.

—The Indianapolis Journal is the opinion that the Republican party can win next year with Grant, and so it can with Blaine, Sherman, or a half dozen other who might be named. It will win upon the position it occupies on the two leading issues, that is, the Southern question and the financial question. The man who is nominated must be sound upon these questions, and upon them command the confidence of the public throughout the Nation.

—General Garfield thinks that on the question of turning over the Government to the Solid South, New York may be set down as safely Republican for next year. That is so true that even Democrats are forced to admit it. Concerning Presidential candidates, the General does not regard Grant as the most available man, there being, among other objections to him, a strong sentiment against a third term. Besides, he does not believe Grant will be a candidate, or that he desires to be.

—Information from all sources goes to show that the Republican State ticket carries New York State, except for State Engineer. The returns being canvassed now in Albany seem to add to the majorities of all the candidates. Wendell, for State Treasurer, leads the ticket, excepting, of course, Cornell. As now shown, his majority is 2,215. The Albany Journal of yesterday evening says that with the changes thus far recorded its footings give Hoskins 557. Carr loses considerably in Monroe county, but gains enough elsewhere to make up. Wendell's net gains thus far over his estimated majority yesterday are about 300. Both appear to be safe by about 2,000.

—The Philadelphia Press says that Senator Simon Cameron, on his return with Senator Blaine on Saturday from the funeral of the late Senator Chandler, in conversation with a friend on the train said that in the death of Mr. Chandler the Republican party lost one of the most aggressive and fearless leaders; that to him, perhaps, the party was more indebted for its success in the elections of the present year than to any other one man; that in his speeches in the last extra session he struck the key-note and aroused the people of the North to the real issues and dangers which menaced the country through the revolutionary designs of the Southern leaders in Congress; that his electrifying midnight speech in the Senate on the proposition of the Democrats to pension Jeff Davis diverted the public mind from local issues and turned attention to the designs of the South should they get control of the executive as they have of the legislative department of the Government. The ex-Senator said that the more intimate friends of the late Senator were convinced that the cause of his death was over-exertion in the late campaign, as he had spoken in Maine, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, and Illinois, and was on his way to fill an engagement on the following night in his own State.

—The Washington Post calls for Seymour. It says "It simply becomes a question now as to whether Governor Seymour can be induced to run. We speak entirely within the bounds of facts when we state that he can have the nomination unanimously conferred upon him if he will accept it. Simply have it understood that he is ready to take up the party standard if called upon to do so, and none of the Democratic aspirants now considered to be contesting the prize would allow themselves to oppose him. They would all be only too willing to yield to his superior claims, and acknowledge his preeminent fitness." There are Democrats, however, who think that the man to help the party out of its troubles is Senator Bayard. The Memphis Avalanche is outspoken for the Delaware statesman, and thus advocates his claims: "The Democratic press comments on the result of last Tuesday's elections are not generally of a cheerful nature. The belief is almost universally expressed that Tilden is politically dead. The Bayard bond will now bow to some purpose. The Delaware Senator will meet with very little opposition in taking his place as the leader of the Democratic party. He is now the party's only hope. With a slight change of front at the next session of Congress, the Democrats can be hedged on the States Rights and Troops at the Polls questions, put the Republicans on the defensive, and win a victory in 1880."

—The latest and most remarkable suggestion for the Democratic nomination for President is the suggestion of Ex-Congressman Scott Laid, of New York, who favors starting a boom for Gen. Don Carlos Buell, of Kentucky.

Notes on the Institute.

FRIDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Institute opened in the usual manner. After awhile Rev. L. C. Shelp took the stand; his subject was General Information. He said a teacher cannot be successful unless he studies; he should hunt up information on almost every subject, and should not be quite ignorant on any subject, this mass of general information he should have and cherish, so as to have it always available to interest his pupils; information thus conveyed has a tendency to elevate a teacher in the eyes of his pupils, especially if the information conveyed is not found in the school book. With regard to teachers' salaries, he said that "a teacher will get what he is worth." That this is not so I think the Rev. gentleman himself is a standing proof. But still his remarks were well received, his words well chosen, and he showed a thorough knowledge of the importance of the teacher's position, and of the subject on which he spoke.

Prof. Horton now came forward with his lesson on pronunciation. He expatiated on the mistakes pupils generally make and on the whole succeeded in making a very interesting lesson, considering his subject, but as it would not be interesting to the general reader, I will pass it by.

Prof. Woodruff now occupies the time of the Institute, subject—School Management. He said teachers generally fail for want of skill in management, and not through lack of education; he gave some splendid advice to teachers, both young and old; advice which I think many will endeavor to profit by.

Prof. Digsby now took up the subject of Phonics or "Short Hand"; he gave some lessons on the black board, the Institute for the time becoming his pupils; he gave some very nice exercises, and a great many teachers seemed to learn very fast, and I think if the Professor continued his exercises short hand writers would become as numerous as school teachers, and newspaper editors could pay just what salary they please, as School Directors do now, but such a catastrophe as God forbid.

Dr. Dickie now came forward and spoke on what should be taught in the public schools. He said we had too many ologies and graphs, and not enough of the "three R's," and I think if one may judge by the approving looks of numbers of teachers, that a great many were ready to respond a hearty Amen to his words, if the occasion required it. There can be no doubt but there is too much striving after show in our public schools, and that the useful is too often sacrificed to the ornamental; he insisted that the common branches should be thoroughly taught whatever may be done with the higher ones. The doctor's words to-day laid considerable weight with the teachers, and many think that they judged him too rashly yesterday.

Prof. Woodruff now spoke on the proper pronunciation of words. James Diehl occupied the next half hour with reading; after which Prof. Digsby finished the subject of phonetic writing. Then Mr. Woodruff in bringing the Institute to a close thanked the teachers for their attendance and attention, he also thanked the Directors for allowing the teachers the time.

283 teachers attended the Institute, and 40 Directors. In writing up the present Institute, one's mind naturally reverts to former ones, and I can hardly help comparing past efforts with the present. Mr. Woodruff's endeavor to draw out local talent cannot be too highly appreciated, and I think that he cannot do better than go a step farther the next time, and not allow a Prof. to go on the stage while a teacher is willing to do the work; that he can do entirely without hired help, is not probable, but it should be used only to fill up time. I have seen it done in New York State, and I think the teachers of Bucks will compare favorably with those of any county in New York. We therefore wish the Superintendent success. There is another matter in which I think we have made some improvements, but still there is room for much more. I refer to the habit of talking and otherwise disturbing the Institute during its sessions, which some teachers indulge in. I ask teachers would they tolerate in school what they themselves practice in Institute; a great many teachers go to learn; it is just then that they should be disturbed by others who go with a different motive? Is there any reason that the superintendent should threaten to call out names, as he did last year, this I say is a disgrace that should not recur. If talking was confined only to the younger teachers we could excuse it, but when teachers who have left their "teens" and are now pretty well advanced in their "fies" do it, I think it is time that it should receive a little of the odium which it merits. But still it is encouraging to know that we have made some progress. "Let us now go on unto perfection," let our merit be "an excelsior," yet remember that those for whom we labor have immortal souls and that now is the time to make good impressions: For youth like softened wax will take these images that first impressions make, if they are fair their actions will be bright. If dark they'll clouded be with shades of night.

Let us measure our efforts by the dollars we receive; for, although "the laborer is worthy of his hire," still let us do our duty. Let us work as in the sight of God, and perhaps the day may come when we will have the glad sentences pronounced "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." May God enable us all to feel that we are only his stewards, that the talents which we have received are not ours out his, and that we will have to render a strict account of the use we make of it. To the teacher then I would say do not lay yours up in a napkin, do not look for reward in this life, but like thousands who have gone before, perhaps you may find it "when the green grass of ages waves over us all." N. E. D.

—The "Judische Volks Zeitung," is published in New York. A copy of it has been received at this office. It is no doubt an interesting journal. Its typography, although neat and clear, is difficult to decipher. We looked all through its columns, but could not tell therefrom whether the Republicans had elected their whole ticket in New York or not. This was a bitter disappointment, especially as we are convinced the news is there. But as the paper is printed in the Hebrew language, we will have to restrain our impatience, and await the publication of the news in the less enterprising journals which are printed in the English tongue.

—Teachers' Talking Tournaments is what the Cincinnati Enquirer calls Teachers' Institutes.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10th, 1879.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Our, so called, National Fair has proved a decided success. Particularly it has exceeded all anticipations, for the attendance has been much larger than was deemed possible in the outset, and this too under the large admission charge of 50 cents. The running and trotting races were excellent, for some of the best horses in the country participated. The mile track is an excellent one, and certainly not a superior anywhere. The best herds of cattle of Virginia and Maryland competed for premiums, and made a show fully equal in extent and worth to that of any State Fair in the North. So with horses—General Grant's Arabian stallions were among those, and of course attracted universal notice, and for everybody wanted to see them. These two horses are as gentle and playful as kittens, allowing all who wish to fondle and caress them. Ladies will put their faces close to the noses of the horses, who will gently attempt to nip and bite, taking care, however, not to touch either the face or clothing. We saw one nipping at the lapel of a gentleman's coat, first one side and then the other, as playfully as a puppy would, and every action on his part indicated a familiarity and fearlessness as a petted dog. Alongside of these docile animals were ranged our American stallions, caged and strapped, as if dangerous beasts, no one daring to touch or even closely approach, making an interesting contrast, and arousing the natural query, why should our native horses not be as gentle and kind as the Arabian. The contributions of paintings to the Fair Art Hall were very great. Several large manufacturers of agricultural implements fairly emptied their warehouses into the competing halls. So between the fine racing, the grand show of cattle, horses and swine, the extensive contributions to the Fine Art, Domestic and Machinery Halls, we feel we have done wonders and have just cause for pride. To raise $50,000, buy 150 acres of ground, and cover it with buildings, and make a success of a fair, all inside of 90 days, shows that we have live energetic business men here as well as the West, and that Washington may now be taken out of the category of old foggy cities.

We take pleasure in chronicling our success, because it is the first step in that direction by our people, and while grand fairs are common to your readers, ours is new to us and we must be permitted to exult, just as a boy is when rigged out in his first pair of boots or pants. The weather was quite cold part of the time, yet, as the sun shone brightly, and no rain fell to make the racing track heavy, or even to lay the dust, the number of daily visitors was quite large—on some days reaching an estimate of 20,000.

Next to the Fair in interest, stand the unveiling ceremonies of Gen. Thomas' equestrian statue, which is to be erected on the pedestal built under the appropriation of $20,000, by Congress, and the re-unions of the Army of the Cumberland, both ceremonies to take place on the 19th and 20th insts. The statue has been pronounced perfect, and a master piece of art, and will arrive here and be placed in position by the committee in charge by the 15th, and every arrangement completed so that nothing may occur to mar or prevent the unveiling on the 19th. Thousands are expected to be present, as the committee, Gen. Garfield, Young and McCook, have received assurances to that effect from comrades in all parts of the country, and an immense tent, capable of seating 10,000 people has been provided for the reunion exercises. It will be erected in the rear grounds of the White House, and will be lighted with the electric light. As General Grant has consented to participate in the ceremonies, a mass meeting was held at Lincoln Hall, and 100 citizens were appointed by the chairmen to arrange for his reception when he arrives. Just what course will be pursued by our people toward him, is not as yet determined, but party lines will evidently not be drawn in the matter, as a number of such bitter partisans as Don Platt appear among the committee-men, and we may, therefore, expect as hearty greetings will be extended him as in the West.

One of our well known grocers, Mr. Frank Golden, was burned to death in his store. It is supposed that he set fire to his beard, which was very long, and the flames communicated with his clothing. D. D.

—The scientific students of Swarthmore, Delaware county, have a workshop and are constructing a couple of dynamo-electric machines for the institution and are also building two steam engines as well as several telegraphic instruments. The school now contains more pupils than ever before and is full.

—The Welsh are arranging for a grand musical jubilee or Elatedoff at the Permanent Exhibition, on Thanksgiving week, to continue for two days. It is proposed to have an aggregation of 1,600 singers, they to be divided into five choirs of 300 singers each.

—Miss Annie Foster, daughter of the Governor-elect, was in Cincinnati on election day, and sent the following dispatch to her father: "I congratulate you upon your election, and hope that the people of Ohio may find you as good a governor as I have."

—Mrs. Daniel McCook, mother of the "fighting McCook family," died at New Lisbon, Ohio, last Sunday, in the 78th year of her age.

—When Douglass Jarrold heard a society bore speaking of a song that "always carried him away" when he heard it, Jarrold simply asked if some one present would please sing it.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson is circulating a tract which shows that the people of the United States pay over $700,000,000 a year for spirituous liquors, and only $85,000,000 for education and $48,000,000 for religion.

—GET OUT DOORS.—The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rose cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.

LAND SWINDLE EXPOSED.

DENVER, COL., Nov. 10.—Sidney A. Grant, of Cincinnati, and A. F. Wilson, were arrested Saturday for conducting a fraudulent scheme through the mails, under the name of the "Denver Land Company."

The swindle was planned in Cincinnati. Stereotype plates were prepared, which already have been inserted in over 800 first class newspapers and periodicals in the Northern, Eastern and Middle States. Grant came to Denver to secure land for the purpose, and bought a thousand acres in Sand Hills, forty miles north of Denver, in another county, which was recorded as North Denver. Although Grant was known here but eight days, a perfect avalanche of letters have come through the mail for S. A. Grant and the Denver Land Company. The fraud was exposed by the local newspapers and bitterly denounced by the citizens.

—A woman in the South end of Boston looked under the bed for a burglar one night last week, as she had been accustomed to do from her youth up, and much to her astonishment actually found him. Her husband was close at hand and grappled with the intruder, while she ran to the window and screamed "Murder!" The burglar asked to be allowed to go, adding, "I haven't hurt you!" "No," answered the plucky lawyer, "but you would if you got the chance." The wife at this moment left the window, and, stepping up to her husband, said, in a loud whisper, "Shall I bring your pistol?" Though there wasn't even a toy popgun in the house, this little strategy had its desired effect, for the fellow exclaimed, in a whining tone, "Oh! you don't mean to kill me?" "Yes," if I can," was the response of the lawyer, who lightened his grip upon the fellow's arm and throat, and held him firmly against the wall, hoping every moment that assistance would arrive. Though his wife's mother and daughter joined in crying at the window for help, no one came to their aid, and the burglar, growing desperate, made another break for liberty, and succeeded in gaining the landing at the foot of the stairs. Here the lawyer again collared him, but, after a hard struggle, the fellow freed himself and dashed through a window, making his escape.

—Captain Flaherty, of the Red Star Line steamer Zealand, which arrived at Philadelphia from Antwerp, Tuesday, reports that on November 8th, in latitude 33° 3' north, longitude 61° 35' west, he picked up the bark Royal Arch, of Sunderland, which had been abandoned by her master and crew. The bark when found by the Zealand was loaded with salt and general merchandise, and her sails, masts and rigging were all in proper shape. She had only two or three inches of water in her hold, and her pumps were in good working order. Captain Flaherty could not tell from what port the bark hailed, and no reason can be assigned for her abandonment by her own crew. A volunteer crew of the first mate and seven seamen of the Zealand was put on board of her, and Captain Flaherty directed his officer to take the bark to New York, where he thinks she arrived yesterday.

—A Philadelphia widow has lost $20,000 by marrying a second time. One of the clauses of her first husband's will ran: "I give and bequeath to my wife the interest of the sum of $20,000 of my estate, to be paid to her semi-annually for and during her natural life, if she shall so long remain my widow. In case of her marriage the interest of the said sum shall cease. After her decease or marriage, as the case may be, I give and bequeath the said sum of $20,000, together with all the rest, residue and remainder of my estate, to my father, Phineas Hough." The woman married again, and her father-in-law by the first marriage brought suit for the money. Judge Ashman has decided that the wife's claim ceased with her widowhood.

—At the meeting of the New Jersey State Temperance Alliance at Newark, yesterday, the Rev. Dr. Finley, of the Central Presbyterian Church, said that he had just received a letter from a friend in California, in which it was stated that when at one of the recent receptions some native wine was offered to General Grant he refused it, saying that when he sailed from Philadelphia for his two years' trip around the world he had resolved not to drink liquor of any kind.

An "Agricultural Number" of Scribner's Monthly.

In addition to the usual variety in the contents of Scribner, the November issue contains a half dozen papers of the highest interest to farmers, and others interested in rural life: "The Agricultural Districts in Great Britain," by P. T. Quinn; "Farming in Kansas," by Henry King; "Success with Small Fruits," by E. D. Root; "Rural Lawn-Trees," by Samuel Parsons, Jr.; "The Mississippi Jetties," and their effect on the prices of agricultural products, and "How Animals Get Home," by Ernest Ingersoll.

There are two fine portraits of Bayard Taylor—one engraved by Cole, from the best photograph, and the other a reproduction by Juergling, of O'Donovan's bronze brass relief. These portraits accompany a discriminating critique of Taylor, by Stephen. Clarence Cook has a paper on "Morris Moore's Old Masters," with a reproduction, by Cole, of Raphael's "Apollo and Marsyas." There are Poems, Stories and Sketches: "The French Quarter of New York," "Extracts from the Journal of Henry J. Raymond," with interesting reminiscences of Daniel Webster; a beautiful story, by Boyesen, an ingenious story, "A Sign," the fourth part of "Confidence," by Henry James, Jr., begun in August; and the first part of a new American novel of Creole life, "The Grandissimes," by George W. Cable, of New Orleans, the author of "Old Creole Days," which has created such an excellent impression in the literary world. "The Reign of Peter the Great," by Eugene Schuyler, is noted editorially. This splendid series of Illustrated Historical Papers, the greatest work of the sort yet undertaken by any popular magazine, will begin in the January issue, and will continue for two years.

All that enterprise and skill can do will be done to maintain the position of Scribner as the leading popular periodical of America. With the revival of the agricultural and business interests of the country, increased attention will be paid to papers on great public enterprises and interests, already a notable feature of the magazine.

Price, $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number. Buy it of your book-seller or send the subscription price to the publishers.

THE WORLD'S CHILD-MAGAZINE.

John Greenleaf Whittier, the most child-hearted as he is among the foremost of American Authors, writes of ST. NICHOLAS: "It is little to say of this magazine that it is the best child's periodical in the world." Prof. Proctor, the astronomer, wrote from London: "What a wonderful magazine it is for young folks, and ours are quite as much delighted with it as American children can be!" That it is calculated to delight the little folk everywhere is indicated by the fact that it is to be issued in French by Delagrave of Paris and that even the far-away little Moslems are now to have a volume made up of translations from ST. NICHOLAS into Arabic by the Rev. H. H. Jessup.

Beginning with the November number (ready Oct. 25th) the magazine is to be printed on heavier paper with wider margins, and is to be so much enlarged that the new volume will contain nearly two hundred more pages than any former volume, while the price will remain the same. The publishers announce that many brilliant novelties, including a new serial by Miss Louisa M. Alcott, entitled "Jack and Jill," "The Treasure-Box of English Literature," in which will be given gems from standard English and American authors; an Acting-Play for Sunday Schools, by Rev. Edward Eggleston, which will be printed in time for the holidays, with full direction for its representation in school exhibitions; and a beautiful Fairy Opera for children entitled "The Sleeping Beauty in the Wood."

The November number has two beautiful frontispieces and a red-line title-page, and contains over sixty illustrations. It begins a new serial for boys, "AMONG THE LAKES," by the author of "Dab Kinzie." Another splendid serial for boys has been secured for this volume, "The Fairport Nine," a story of a base-ball club, by Noah Brooks. In short, ST. NICHOLAS, which has no rival on either continent, is to be better than ever.

A superb Christmas number is in preparation, to appear early in December. Subscriptions should begin with November. Buy it of your bookseller, or send the subscription price to the publishers. Price, $3.00 a year; 25 cents a number.

—WHAT MAKES YOU SICK?—You have allowed your bowels to become habitually constipated, your liver has become torpid, the same thing will happen to your kidneys, and you are just used up. Now be sensible, get a package of Kidney-Wort, take it faithfully and soon you will forget you've got any such organs, for you will be a well man.

—Most of the New York burglars are under 20 years of age, which leads The Graphic to believe that there isn't half enough spanking machines in this country.

—Many a young lady is afflicted with heart disease; it is not caused by neuritis, however, but only by a young man who parts his hair in the middle.

—That Quinine will cure Chills and Fever is well known. But it is strange that the other febrile principles contained in Peruvian bark are more powerful than Quinine, and do not produce any annoying head symptoms like quinine in the ears. This fact is proved by Dr. F. W. Witholt's Anti-Periodic or Fever and Ague Tonic, which is a preparation of Peruvian bark, without Quinine, according to the delaration of its proprietors, Wheelock, Finlay & Co., of New Orleans.

NOTES.

—The Temperance Lyceum shows no signs of reviving.
 —Look out for the star shower about midnight to-night.
 —Henry Baker is about to open a butcher shop on Cedar street, near Market.
 —The Indian summer has had a reviving effect upon the mosquitoes.
 —W. K. Evans has opened an establishment for the sale of tobacco and cigars on Wood street.
 —Next Friday week the Bridesburg Knights of Pythias will pay Hieronimo Lodge a visit.
 —On Friday evening of next week a so-called, the first of the season, will be held at the Methodist Church.
 —The office of the Bristol Weekly Times is gorgeous with a new sign. It is a good sign, and the latest sign of the Times.

—The property recently purchased by Capt. S. K. Stackhouse, on Mulberry street, has been repaired and otherwise improved.
 —The snow of last week having been succeeded by what is supposed to be Indian summer, overcoats are temporarily banished.
 —Edmund Lawrence has purchased of Joseph S. Peirce one of the lots between the Water Works and Walnut street for $1,000.

—The machinery of the Fringe Mill of L. M. Harned & Co., was purchased last Saturday by Joshua Peirce, who paid for it about $9,000.

—By the official returns of Bucks County, Folwell, has 600 majority; Yardley, 633; Hendly, 431; and Williams 733. Butler's majority for State Treasurer is 382.

—Rev. Dr. Chaplain, Presiding Elder of this district, preached at the Methodist Church, last Sunday evening. His discourse was an able one, and has received much favorable comment.

—Hopkins Lodge, L. O. E. F., of Bristol, and Nesbany Lodge, of Doylestown, will be entertained at Laughton, on Saturday evening, November 23d, by the members of the order at that place.

—The new keg factory of Woods & Kelinger will be in active operation this week. They are receiving a large stock of lumber from which to make staves. About twenty men will find permanent employment there.

—The large addition to the Bristol railway mill has been completed, and the machinery is being placed therein. The new furnaces are erected, and in a week or so hoop, band and bar iron will be rolled out in double the quantities ever before produced at this establishment.

—To-day or to-morrow, according to predictions of the Second Adventists, this world of ours will come to an end. If you believe the prediction, be prepared to be disappointed. It may be well, however, to have the ascension robes handy in case the prophecy of our Advent friends proves true.

—Why should not the next session of the Teachers' Institute be held in Bristol? Is there any reason why Doylestown should have a monopoly of the benefits and pleasures arising from the annual convention of the teachers. We think not; but there are numerous and cogent reasons why the Institute should be held in Bristol.

—W. H. H. White's property has been vastly improved by the changes which have been made upon it. The building, besides having had an additional story put upon it has received a coat of rough-casting, and a large new bulk window has been put in the shop front. Other improvements have been made, of which the new flagstone pavement is not the least beneficial.

—The fair for the benefit of the poor of our borough, which began yesterday at Cabot's Hall, under the management of a number of young ladies, is quite attractive, and was very well attended. The fair will continue this afternoon and evening, and to-morrow afternoon and evening, and perhaps on Saturday. The benevolent object of the entertainment should enlist the sympathy of the public, and secure the success of the enterprise.

—The Young Ladies' Walking Club made an excursion on Tuesday as far as David's Well. The distance there and back is about six miles. At this rate the young ladies will soon be ready to accept the invitation of Gen. Davis to Doylestown. We advise the chivalrous editor of the Democrat to hold himself in readiness to receive at any moment a summons to join our fair pedestrians at Newtown and pilot them on their way to the county seat.

—The men concerned in the recent robbery of Nathan Tyler's clothing store have been discovered, and arrested, and, after a hearing before Judge Bailey on Tuesday evening, were on the following morning taken to Doylestown to await trial. The parties were arrested at Easton by the authorities there on suspicion of having been engaged in a robbery of some kind, as the men were tramps, and besides being entirely arrayed in new outfits, had been heard of as having offered for sale along the road a suspicious quantity of ready-made clothing. Inquiries were sent to different towns in the surrounding country, asking if any robbery had occurred. The inquiry sent to Bristol was answered affirmatively, and the authorities at Easton instructed to hold the prisoners. Accordingly on Tuesday morning Constable Londerbough and Mr. Tyler went up to Easton, and the latter identified upon the persons of the tramps overcoats which had been taken from his premises. The prisoners were, therefore, turned over to Constable Londerbough, who, in company with a detective, brought the tramps to Bristol. They gave their names as John Fuller, Charles Reilly and John Williams.

Council Proceedings.

A stated meeting of Council was held at Council Chamber on last Monday evening at which all the members were present excepting H. M. Wright.

The Street Committee reported that the crossings on Pond and Lafayette streets had been laid, that one had been placed on the opposite side of the street from that asked for in the petition, the majority of the committee deeming that location to be of more service to the public.

The Poor Committee asked Council to instruct them to issue no orders for the burial of the dead, except when applied for by some member of the family of the deceased.

The Ordinance Committee reported an ordinance providing for the use of Public Sewers, by private individuals, and the payment of an annual rental therefor. The committee also reported that there was an ordinance existing which sufficiently provided for the removing of rubbish, &c. from the streets and gutters of the borough, which was read by Clerk of Council.

The following bills were passed:
 Thomas Godby, laying crossing.....$ 3 50
 Peter Hendricks, laying crossing..... 3 50
 Adam Stone, work on streets..... 17 00
 Seth W. Boer, work and material..... 17 00
 McDonald & Archer, pipes for Mulberry street sewer..... 85 00
 J. M. Holman, building..... 15 00
 Charles Saxton, care of lamps, 3d Ward..... 14 75
 Samuel Holt, care of lamps, 3d Ward..... 14 75
 James Drury, printing..... 35 40
 John R. Gault, care of lamps, 3d Ward..... 14 75
 Bristol Gaslight Co., gas..... 136 00

The following bills were referred:
 J. Neal Brown, lighting lamps.....$ 7 75
 Jonathan Wright, setting lamp &c. in Eagle House..... 67 00

The sewer ordinance was passed as reported by the Ordinance Committee. The full text of the ordinance will be found in the advertising columns of this issue of the GAZETTE.

An additional appropriation of $80 for printing for the current year was ordered.

On motion the dog tax of John Dorrance was remitted.

The Street Committee reported a lamp broken at the railroad crossing at Mill street, by Boyd Headley, and that the repairs amounted to six dollars. On motion the bill was placed in the hands of the constable for collection.

Israel Tomlinson complained to Council that the boys in the Third Ward, by throwing stones, sling-shots, and other missiles made it dangerous to pedestrians, and destructive to window glass. The Clerk read an old ordinance which fully covered the ground and Council took no further action on the subject.

A course of entertainments have been arranged on behalf of the Bristol Library for Thursday evenings, November 27th, December 4th, 11th, and 18th. Prof. Shoemaker of the National School of Education and Oratory, will give a reading. Rev. Dr. Tryon Edwards, will lecture upon the manners and customs of the "Good Old Times," and ancient religious customs that to us would seem incomprehensibly absurd. Rev. Dr. H. L. Wayland, President of Brown University, will lecture upon "The Newspaper as a Power in the Land." The remaining entertainment is not yet arranged, but will be announced in our next. A musical prelude will be provided for each entertainment. Price of admission, 35c, or $1.00 for the course.

The tramps who were taken to Doylestown on Wednesday for robbing Nathan Tyler's store, were costumed in some of the clothing they had stolen. When they arrived at jail these clothes were replaced by jail suits, the stolen clothing being placed in charge of the District Attorney until after the trial shall have taken place. If the prisoners shall be convicted Mr. Tyler can claim the clothing the prisoners wore, but he is unlikely to do so. As far as profit is concerned, it would have been cheaper to give the tramps the clothing, but it will be a satisfaction to have the thieves looked up for a while, and indulge their love for new clothes by having them furnished with striped suits.

The GAZETTE is authorized to state that the Walking Club is quite pleased at General Davis' invitation. Some of the members are well able to walk from here to Doylestown, and as soon as practice enables a few more to do it they will make a descent upon the Democrat office and claim the promised dinner, serenade and ride back in the cars. They will be delighted to have the company of the Democrat editor over the latter half of the walk, as is promised in his last issue.

The new railroad siding which is now being built for the accommodation of the Livingston felt mills, Grundy Bros. & Campbell's worsted mills, the rolling mill of Newgold, Scheide & Co., Thomas B. Harkins' foundry, Joseph S. Peirce's coal yard and J. C. Sherman's plane and sash factory, is nearly completed. It is one of the big improvements of the Second Ward, and as three-quarters of the freight of Bristol comes from these mills, the railroad company were no doubt wise in making the outlay.

Thomas B. Harkins' foundry is over-run with work. Although his place has been enlarged three or four times within the past five years to meet the demand of an increasing trade, he says that now he could probably use double the moulding shop space that he now has. The increased trade this season he informs us is not so much on account of new customers being attracted to his mill, but chiefly because his old patrons are giving him largely increased orders.

During the present season on some of the "off nights" of the Bristol Institute, entertainments under the auspices of the Institute will be given. The first entertainment of this series will take place on Tuesday evening, November 25th, when a combination company from the National School of Education and Oratory, Philadelphia, will give select readings and recitations. Further information concerning the affair will be given next week.

Edward L. Banes having become the sole proprietor of the Bristol machine shop, on Dorrance street, we found him at his place of business, the other day, as hard at work as if he had never been among the mountains of Colorado. He is now engaged in building engines, and is ready for anything that comes in his line.

An advertisement of the "Denver Land Company" appeared in the GAZETTE last week. We advise our readers not to invest in the enterprise or have anything to do with it. It is a fraud. An exposure of it will be found elsewhere in the paper.

Within and Around the County.

Water is scarce at the Bucks county Almshouse.

Wild ducks have been quite numerous at New Hope.

The Newtown Literary Society is to be re-organized.

John Higgins, of Newtown, will remove to Mount City, Kan.

Bark parties are a novelty in the neighborhood of Richboro'.

The watch of Rev. Dr. Andrews, of Doylestown, was recently stolen.

A Halibut man picked a ripe watermelon from his vine on the 28th ult.

Malton Atkinson, a prominent man of Buckingham died, last Thursday.

Mrs. Atlantic Hurley, of Burlington, recently celebrated her 85th birthday.

Rev. George C. Hart is delivering temperance lectures through the county.

Deacon Church, of the Enterprise appears to be an enthusiastic lover of cider.

Prothonotary elect Folwell, is making arrangements for removing to Doylestown N.

Revival meetings are in progress at Point Pleasant, at the Kingswood M. E. Church.

Miss Belle McKensie, the noted "Hebe" of "Pinafore," has been visiting Burlington.

Jacob Janson has sold his property in Morrisville to Abel Maubury for $1,375.

The temperance people will inaugurate a vigorous campaign in the county this winter.

Jesse Harper of Fallsington, will rent his farm next spring, and retire from farming.

Two prisoners escaped from the county jail on election day. But one of them was re-captured.

William and A. Satterthwaite have purchased the South farm near Fallsington, for $150 per acre.

Diphtheria has proven fatal in fourteen cases out of eighty in Lambertville during the past week.

Rev. Samuel Longfellow, brother of the poet, ministers over the Unitarian Church, at Germantown.

Miss Kate Laverell, a Bucks county elocutionist, is said to have taken Hackensack, N. J., by storm.

Samuel McHenry, of Point Pleasant, has returned to his home, well pleased with his trip to the West.

Diphtheria has made its appearance in the neighborhood of Point Pleasant, but so far only in a mild form.

It is reported that the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company have purchased the Newtown railroad.

William Black, of Doylestown, has accepted a situation in the office of the P. W. & B. railroad, Philadelphia.

The real estate of N. L. Swartz, of Point Pleasant was sold last Saturday by John Clemons, assignee, to N. L. Heany.

The new house being built by Dr. A. M. Cooper, Point Pleasant, is nearly completed, and will soon be ready to be occupied.

J. Edward Jones, Esq., formerly of Bristol township, who has been residing in Washington, D. C., was in town to-day.

Silas Cowdick, of Point Pleasant, has built a large and substantial barn upon the site of the one destroyed by fire last summer.

Willie R. Cooper, son of Dr. A. M. Cooper, of Point Pleasant, is at present a student of the State Normal School, Millersville, Pa.

The hotel property of Ephraim Shank, at Point Pleasant, was sold last Tuesday, by T. O. Atkinson & Co., to Mrs. Shank for $720.

Stephen W. Shaw, formerly of Bristol, died at Mechanicsville, near Doylestown, last Sunday, and was buried at Plumstead, on Wednesday.

Last Sunday morning the pulpit of the Baptist Church was filled by Rev. Geo. Young, now a student at the Crozer Theological Seminary.

The "New York Furnishing Company" is the latest advertising fraud bagged by the Enterprise, which seems to be imposed upon continually.

The appraisers of the Buckingham Insurance Company allowed Elias Hogeland $2100 damages on his barn, which was lately burned near Somerton.

At Fallsington the Balderson farm was purchased by Lizzie Balderson at $158 per acre, and the Smith farm was bought by S. Buckman, for $110.50 per acre.

A Republican voter of Lower Makefield, who did not wish to go to the polls, hid in a hoghead to escape the importunities of politicians. The Democrat wishes more of them had done so.

The Lehigh and Delaware Division Canal Company are going to try steam on their canals between Mauch Chunk and Philadelphia and now are now building an experimental boat.

Under the auspices of the N. C. T. U., on the 25th inst., Misses Imogene Chandler and Laura Duffield will give readings and recitations at Yardleyville. Brock's celebrated orchestra of Doylestown will also be present.

Watson Moon, of Fallsington, sold his dog, Frank, for $40, and Charles Watson sold one for $25. Canines are high priced in Fallsington. A hundred dogs can be bought in Bristol for $40, but still sausage is as cheap if not cheaper in Fallsington than in Bristol.

—General Grant had a triumphal reception in Chicago yesterday.

—Congressman Voorhis was arrested at Hackensack, N. J., for alleged embezzlement.

—The Republican voter who is said to have hid in a hoghead because he was afraid he would be persuaded to vote against his will, evidently thought two heads stronger to argue against even if one was a hoghead.

—A portrait is on exhibition in front of Samuel Bruden's fish market, which has attracted considerable attention. It is not intended to represent the proprietor, which accounts for his unlikeliness to him. It is, however, considered a faithful representation of Sam's official bookkeeper, Rob.

—Prof. Tice says that we are to have tonight the most brilliant meteoric display ever seen since 1833 when to all intents and purposes the sky literally rained fire.

The display will not commence until one o'clock in the morning, but the Professor says that the magnitude of the display will more than compensate for loss of sleep.

The weather predictions so far generally indicate a mild winter. Farmers and bee-keepers say that bees are working harder now than they did when white clover was in bloom, and have only just commenced killing the drones off, which is a sign that they do not look for a very severe winter.

Those who are considered authority say that bees never make a mistake in this respect, hence the prediction as above. We wouldn't advise, however, the packing up of wraps, ulsters, &c. in these degenerate days even bees may be deceitful.

—Superintendent Harrington, of Bureau County, Ill., has wisely prepared for the schools under his charge an excellent series of questions concerning the political offices and duties of the township, County, State and Nation; the constitution of the courts, of the State Legislature and of Congress; and other practical matters in the postal service, and the arrangement of townships and of schools. Two copies of this interrogation paper are sent to each school district and conspicuously posted in the school room, and teachers are requested to give oral instruction upon these questions from time to time until the pupils become familiar with each subject.

—The Advocate has analyzed the election returns of Bucks county, and found how the various candidates ran as follows at home:

In Doylestown borough where both of the candidates for District Attorney reside, Folwell received 27 votes more than the Republican State ticket, and Trumbull received 3 votes less than the Democratic State ticket. In Hillsboro, the home of Folwell, he received one vote more than the State ticket, while Ochs, in Quakertown, received 27 votes more than the State ticket. In Springfield, the home of Healy, he received 5 votes less than the State ticket, while in Timonium, the home of Williams, his competitor, gave the Democratic State ticket 219 majority, and Williams, a Republican, 47 majority.

—The Advocate publishes an account of another attempt to play the confidence game upon a Bucks countian in Philadelphia. It says that William Lovett, Sr., of Tullytown, while visiting Philadelphia, was accosted on the street by a young man, who, in a very friendly manner, addressed him as Mr. so-and-so, from such a place. Mr. Lovett replied that he was not, stated his name, and that he was from Bucks county. The young chap made an apology and left him. A short time afterward another man came up to Mr. Lovett and called him by name, said he was Caleb N. Taylor's nephew, and wanted Mr. Lovett to leave a package at the Bristol bank for Mr. Taylor. Mr. Lovett said he had no objections, and on the way to get the money was informed that his newly found friend had just drawn a prize at a lottery, and would stop in and get his certificate cashed.

They entered a room facing the street, in which were a man, a table and a box with numbered envelopes. After the stranger had handed over the cash for which the certificate called to the friend of Mr. L., they both then invited Mr. L. to see how the thing was done by just making a guess as to where a certain number was in the box. He did so, and was informed that he was successful, and that the number called out for $200, which was immediately counted out to him. By this time Mr. L. smelled a very large sized "mice," refused to accept the money and as soon as possible withdrew.

Mr. Taylor's nephew accompanied him and then appointed a place to meet him with the package for Mr. Taylor, but it is needless to add the "fraud" failed to keep the appointment.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE USE OF PUBLIC SEWERS, BY PRIVATE INDIVIDUALS, AND THE PAYMENT OF AN ANNUAL RENTAL THEREFOR.
 Section 1. The Burgess and Town Council of Bristol Borough, do ordain:—That on and after this date any person or persons may have the privilege of using the sewers for domestic or other purposes, subject to the provisions of Second Section of this Ordinance, provided they first apply to and obtain the approval of and under the supervision of the Committee on Streets; and subject to the provisions of the Ordinance regulating the opening of streets in this Borough.

Section 2. It is further hereby ordained, That all persons using the public sewers shall pay an annual rental of one dollar per annum, for each and every connection therewith to the Borough Treasurer, on or before the first day of each year. And if not paid on that date, such rental shall be collected by the High Constable, in such manner as provided by law, for the collection of delinquent taxes.

Enacted into an ordinance at the Council Chamber, New York, this 13th day of November, 1879.
 J. L. GARWOOD, Burgess.
 Attest—J. WESLEY WRIGHT, Secretary.

THE SUN FOR 1880.

The Sun will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1 until December 31 it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.

A newspaper. The Sun believes in getting at the news of the world, promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligible shape—the news that will enable the reader to keep well abreast of the age with the least expenditure of time. The greatest interest to the average newspaper reader is the news which it is at all times prepared to present liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions of life and all ways of doing things, and read the Sun; and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns, for they keep on buying and reading it.

In its contents on men and affairs, the Sun believes that the best guide of policy should be common sense, inspired by common American principles and backed by honest purposes. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, organization, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to praise what is good and reprobat what is evil, taking care that its language is to the point and plain, because the possibility of being misunderstood is a disadvantage which it is not prepared to incur. It is honest, frank, and fearless. It is not a mere collection of news items, but a collection of news items, which will continue throughout the year 1880 to show the first-class character of every species. It will continue throughout the year 1880 to show the first-class character of every species. It will continue throughout the year 1880 to show the first-class character of every species.

These are the principles upon which the Sun will be conducted during the year to come. The year 1880 will be one which no patriotic American can afford to close his eyes to public affairs. It is a year in which the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of realistic vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the founders gave us. The debates and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the conflicting contents of the Republican and Democratic parties, now nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the varying drift of public sentiment, will all bear directly and effectively upon the twenty-fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago next November the will of the nation, as expressed at the polls, was thwarted by an almost conspiracy of the promoters and beneficiaries of which still hold the offices they stole. Will the crime of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The past decade of years opened with a corrupt, extravagant, and dishonest Administration, which, in its policy, was a constant breaking of the power. The same men are now breaking the power. The same men are now breaking the power. The same men are now breaking the power.

The price of the WEEKLY SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra year free.
